

Pending Home Sales Pull Back From Best Levels Since April 2023

The National Association of Realtors (NAR) released its Pending Home Sales Index (PHSI) for December this morning. Pending sales measures the number signed purchase contracts for existing homes. As such, the index is a good early indicator for Existing Home Sales in the coming month.

Pending sales dropped 5.5% from last month, which was the highest level for the index since April 2023. Sales had also been on a 4 month winning streak. In other words, sales activity remains in solid territory, in the upper middle portion of the range over the past year. As is the case with most housing-related metrics, that range is at historically low levels.

Pending Home Sales Index

Regional breakdown of monthly and (year-over-year changes):

- Northeast
 - -8.1% (-1.3%)
- Midwest
 - -4.9% (-6.9%)
- South
 - -2.7% (-5.1%)
- West
 - -10.3% (-5.1%)

Dan Clifton

NMLS #284174 Managing Member, Mortgage Loan Originator and Mortgage Guru, Clifton Mortgage Services, LLC

CliftonMortgageServices.com

P: (888) 681-0777 x1001

M: (407) 252-3039

dan@cliftonmortgageservices.com

1177 Louisiana Ave

Winter Park FL 32789

NMLS #852745

