

Pending Home Sales Pull Back From Best Levels Since April 2023

The National Association of Realtors (NAR) released its Pending Home Sales Index (PHSI) for December this morning. Pending sales measures the number signed purchase contracts for existing homes. As such, the index is a good early indicator for Existing Home Sales in the coming month.

Pending sales dropped 5.5% from last month, which was the highest level for the index since April 2023. Sales had also been on a 4 month winning streak. In other words, sales activity remains in solid territory, in the upper middle portion of the range over the past year. As is the case with most housing-related metrics, that range is at historically low levels.

Pending Home Sales Index

Regional breakdown of monthly and (year-over-year changes):

- Northeast
 - -8.1% (-1.3%)
- Midwest
 - -4.9% (-6.9%)
- South
 - -2.7% (-5.1%)
- West
 - -10.3% (-5.1%)

Sarah Maloney

Senior Vice President,
Guaranteed Rate Affinity

www.grarate.com/.../sarah-maloney-1036901

M: (973) 715-6446

Sarah.Maloney@grarate.com

209 Central Ave.
Westfield New Jersey 07090
1036901

Positively Different™