Big, Early Rally, Then Flat All Day

MBS Recap Matthew Graham | 4:47 PM

On any given day in the bond market, Sometimes everything that's going to happen ends up happening in the morning, thus leaving the rest of the day to drift almost perfectly sideways. Thursday was one of those days. Overseas markets dogpiled on Wednesday afternoon's tariff reaction, sending stocks ripping lower and bond yields following. By the time US markets began active trading, most of the gains were in for bonds. MBS, specifically, barely budged from 11:40am through the close.

Lock / Float Considerations

Bonds have been benefiting in a major way from hefty stock selling. There's a shelf life on that motivation as well as a risk of a reversal that can happen in a much more volatile way. In other words, it's not as if the rally is being driven by a confirmed shift in economic data. Instead, it's driven by an expectation about the impact of an idea that hasn't even been truly implemented, and one that could change on a whim. Floaters should proceed with caution.
