Mortgage application activity moved higher last week as rates declined to the lowest levels since April, according to the Mortgage Bankers Association's (MBA) latest survey. The Composite Index rose 2.7% on a seasonally adjusted basis for the week ending June 27. Results were not adjusted for holidays this time around, but the previous week had included a Juneteenth adjustment.

"Mortgage rates were lower across all loan types last week, with the 30-year fixed rate declining to its lowest level since April at 6.79 percent," said Joel Kan, MBA's Vice President and Deputy Chief Economist. "This decline prompted an increase in refinance applications, driven by a 10 percent increase in conventional applications and a 22 percent increase in VA refinance applications."

Refinance applications rose 7% from the prior week and are now 40% higher than the same week last year.

The average 30-year fixed rate declined to 6.79%—the lowest since April—while points moved slightly lower across most loan types.
