Mortgage and Real Estate News That Matters

The latest New Home Sales report (released today) shows a slight uptick in June after last month's sharp drop. The seasonallyladjusted annual sales pace rose to 627,000.

This represents a modest +0.6% gain from May's revised 623,000, but remains I6.6% below the June 2024 level of 671,000.

For all practical purposes, the pave of sales has been relentlessly sideways and stable for more than 2 years--even if there's been a bit of volatility at times.

Big Picture Takeaway

New home sales rose modestly in June but remain well below last year's levels, held back by elevated mortgage rates (~7%) and excess inventory. The housing market shows signs of cooling, with the median price slipping—providing some relief for buyers, though mortgage costs continue to constrain demand.
