Limited Follow-Through After Shockingly Big Miss

MBS Recap | Matthew Graham | 4:53 PM

If you told the average trader that today's core CPI would come in at 2.6% vs 3.0% year over year, they would have expected a much bigger reaction than we saw today. Ironically, the size of the miss may be one of those reasons. It's so far outside the realm of expected possibilities that traders immediately assumed the presence of legitimate issues with November's data collection. Nonetheless, it was worth a moderate extension of the overnight rally.

A screenshot of the MBS LIVE software interface. The top navigation bar includes 'TIME', 'Pricing', 'Help', 'Tools', 'Settings', and 'GLENN NEZIER'. The main area features several charts and data tables. On the left, there are 'TIME' and 'Pricing' tables for various bond maturities. In the center, there are three charts: '30YR Fixed 4.00', '10YR Treasury 1.8270', and '10YR Treasury 1.8270'. The '10YR Treasury' chart shows a significant price drop from 1.8270 to 1.7950. A large circular 'PLAY VIDEO' button is overlaid in the center of the screen. The bottom right corner shows a 'MBS LIVE Chat' window with a list of messages and a text input field.

Market Movement Recap

08:47 AM Rallying after CPI data. MBS up a quarter point and 10yr down 4.4bps at 4.115

12:18 PM Off best levels. MBS still up 5 ticks (.16) and 10yr down 3.1bps at 4.127

02:56 PM MBS up 7 ticks (.22) and 10yr down 4.2bps at 4.117

Lock / Float Considerations

- Thursday's CPI data was so far below expectations that bonds hesitated to rally as aggressively as the numbers suggested. Nonetheless, this easily reinforces the ceiling of the recent range and arguably serves as the last true trading day of 2025. Apart from some potential random year-end volatility at the very end of the month, the next risk for consequential volatility from scheduled events won't be until the first week of January.
