Bonds Recovering a Bit After "Framework of a Deal" on Greenland

MBS Recap | Matthew Graham | 3:44 PM

Geopolitics have been front and center for financial markets over the past 2 days with both stocks and bonds taking clear cues from newswires pertaining to tariff brinksmanship, trade deal negotiations, foreign wealth fund participation, and ultimately, the late-day announcement of a "framework of a deal" regarding Greenland. Details are in short supply, but the most important development being a pause on the plan to implement new tariffs on February 1st. Markets are cautiously trading this as a win for now with stocks and bonds at the best levels of the week, but definitely not back in line with last week's levels.

The screenshot displays the MBS Live interface. On the left, there are two tables: 'TIME PRICING' and 'YIELDS'. The 'TIME PRICING' table shows bond prices for various maturities, including 10 Year, 20 Year, 30 Year, and 30+ Year. The 'YIELDS' table shows yields for 10 Year, 20 Year, 30 Year, and 30+ Year bonds. In the center, there are three charts: 'REAL TIME CHART (10YR)', 'REAL TIME CHART (10YR)', and 'REAL TIME CHART (10YR)'. The first chart shows a 30YR Fixed rate of 106.75 (0.00). The second chart shows a 10 Year Treasury rate of 1.8270 (-0.0010). The third chart shows a 30+ Year Treasury rate of 1.7903. Below the charts is a 'LIVE NEWS STREAM' with a play button. To the right of the charts is a 'LIVE CHAT' window with a list of messages. At the bottom, there is a 'LIVE REPORTS & PRICES' section with a 'Report' button and a 'REPORTS' tab.

Lock / Float Considerations

- Geopolitical risks began to ebb on Wednesday with potential Greenland de-escalation. This helps resolve the asymmetry we discussed on Tuesday and possibly creates some favorable asymmetry in the other direction. To reiterate yesterday's important point: asymmetric risk is never intended as a comment on future directional movement, but rather, the relative size of rally potential vs selling potential. On a very short term, tactical note, those floating with lenders who do NOT reprice for the better this afternoon will have a bit of a cushion heading into tomorrow as rate sheets were flat before the day began (MBS up 1.12, 10yr down 0.26).

several lenders began to reprice (and MBS are up roughly 19bps on the day as of 3:30pm).
