

MORTGAGE RATE WATCH

Daily Coverage. Industry Leading Perspective.

Mortgage Rates Oh So Close to 3 Year Lows

When the administration announced that Fannie and Freddie would be buying mortgage-backed securities in early January, rates fell sharply to the lowest levels in more than 3 years. After a moderate rebound the following week, we've been holding mostly steady in a range that was 0.1-0.2 above those long-term lows.

The past two days have brought enough improvement that the average lender is once again at levels that are close enough to the long-term lows seen on January 9th and 12th.

What accounts for the strength? In today's case, incremental gains were driven by a tame reading in January's Consumer Price Index (CPI), a key inflation report. In general, lower inflation coincides with lower rates, and today's reading was slightly lower than expected.

Casey Sullivan

Sr. Loan Officer, The Sullivan Group at CrossCountry Mortgage

www.thesullivangrp.com

P: (925) 395-4212

casey@thesullivangrp.com

2125 Oak Grove Rd. Ste. 328

Walnut Creek CA 94598

NMLS237837 & CCM NMLS3029

