

MORTGAGE RATE WATCH

Daily Coverage. Industry Leading Perspective.

Mortgage Rates Sideways to Slightly Lower

Today's mortgage rates are lower when compared to yesterday's average prior to 4pm ET. Later in the afternoon, multiple lenders announced improvements as the bond market rallied in response to geopolitical headlines. If we use those later, lower rates as a baseline, today's average is roughly unchanged.

There were no major economic reports today--not that bonds have been too keen on reacting to econ data anyway. War-related headlines remain the biggest risk for potential volatility despite historically significant econ data on tap in the coming days.

Dylan Forsyth

Senior Loan Officer |
President's Club, Barrett
Financial Group

forsythmortgageteam.com

P: (480) 660-6419

dylanf@barrettfinancial.com

2701 E Insight Wy #150

Chandler AZ 85286

1202762

