Just a Bit More Selling to End The Week

MBS Recap Matthew Graham | 4:38 PM

Nothing much new happened in the bond market today and that's not great because the status quo has been for rising energy prices to push bond yields higher (and stocks lower). The short end of the curve actually improved, but that says more about end-of-week position squaring than any new development. All told, it was the least painful day of the week despite ending at the highest yields since Feb 4. Next week brings a Fed announcement with zero chance of a cut, but still perhaps some interesting commentary on how the Fed will sort inflation implications versus the economic impact.

Market Movement Recap

---

- 08:33 AM Sideways to slightly stronger and a modestly positive reaction to the 8:30am data. MBS up an eighths and 10yr down 1.34bps at 4.252
- 11:47 AM MBS down an eighth of a point and 10yr up 1.3bps at 4.278
- 01:21 PM flattening out at weakest levels. MBS still down an eighth and 10yr up 1.9bps at 4.284

Lock / Float Considerations

- Volatility risk remains much higher than normal due to geopolitical uncertainty. The entire month of March has been bearish for rates so far. It makes sense to remain defensive until that bearish streak has clearly leveled off.
