Bonds Ultimately Follow Oil's Lead, Heading Lower War-Related Optimism

MBS Recap | Matthew Graham | 4:26 PM

While there were no incredibly memorable sound bytes on the Iran war today, there were a few headlines that proved to be actionable for financial markets. The most actionable (by a wide margin) was a report on Fox News around 10am quoting a senior admin official as saying "a lot is happening today and tomorrow. We have all the ingredients of a deal, but it's not all there yet." This was paraphrased by Fox as "Senior Trump Admin. Official: Strong Indicators Toward Reaching Agreement With Iran." Oil and bond yields dropped on the news and both moves continued into the afternoon. Stocks rallied and have now essentially fully recovered the war-related losses.

Lock / Float Considerations

4/11/22 Tuesday brought the usual volatility to the fixed income market. The month

4/14/26 - Tuesday brought the second straight day of moderate gains in the bond market. It's worth noting that, since the start of the war, 2-day winning streaks have been the maximum. This could change any time, but it may be a useful anecdote for those on a lock/float fence (especially in light of today's pricing being the best in 4 weeks).
