

The Day Ahead: Bleeding Subsides For Now, Headlines Helping But Bonds Remain Cautious

Tuesday's massive wave of bond-specific weakness still has the analytical community scratching its collective head. Our contacts are either saying nothing or telling us they're just as perplexed. So far this morning, there hasn't been any sort of repeat performance. Lower oil prices have helped bonds find their footing, but the move has relied on breaking news regarding the potential for the final text of the peace agreement to be drafted by tomorrow.

Randy Vance

Founder/CEO, Boss Mortgage, LLC

www.bossmortgage.com

P: (541) 280-8294

M: (541) 280-8294

randy@bossmortgage.com

304 NE 3rd Street
Bend OR 97701

NMLS#1455628 OR, WA, ID, CO,
MT, CA, AZ

Company NMLS 2547821

On the calendar front, the 2pm FOMC Minutes release is the only thing that seems like it might be relevant, but as a reminder, this is just a more detailed account of the meeting that took place 3 weeks ago, and we've heard plenty of Fed speakers clarify their outlook over those 3 weeks.