Some Signs of Resilience But It's Still Anyone's Game

MBS Recap | Matthew Graham | 4:31 PM

After several consecutive business days of abject unpleasantness in the bond/mortgage market, Tuesday finally offered a modest consolation. During domestic trading hours, every attempt to push 10yr yields over 5% was met with a supportive bounce--presumably from value buyers targeting 5% as a good entry point to own 10yr notes for investment purposes. We wouldn't read too much into this just yet. It is a defensible conclusion today (especially in light of oil prices surging over to over $106), but Wednesday's Fed reaction could completely change the landscape. We'll discuss "what if" scenarios in today's recap video.

10:57 AM 5% Yields Bringing Value Buyers?

4:18 PM

09:16 AM MBS unchanged and 10yr up 1.7bps at 5.001

01:08 PM MBS down 1 tick (.03) and 10yr up 2.2bps at 5.006

03:13 PM MBS up 1 tick (.03) and 10yr up 1.6bps at 5.00

9/15/26 - High risk / high reward ahead of Fed day. There were certainly some signs of technical support in the bond market today, but things can go either way in a big way tomorrow afternoon. We would still prefer to see a clearly-defined reversal and momentum toward lower rates before reconsidering a defensive stance by default.
