Purchase Applications Post Strongest Week Since September

Mortgage applications rebounded as rates eased over the course of the week, despite a slight increase in the weekly average. The Mortgage Bankers Association (MBA) reported a 6.1% increase in total application volume for the week ending November 20, 2026.

Purchase applications improved by 10% on a seasonally adjusted basis, and Refinance applications increased just 1%. On an unadjusted basis, purchase activity was up 5% for the week.

Despite the rebound, purchase applications remained 16% below year-ago levels, while refinance activity was down 51%. The refinance share of total applications fell to 40.1% from 41.1%, while adjustable-rate mortgage applications increased to 11.5%, their highest share in more than a year.

MBA's Joel Kan noted that purchase applications reached their strongest weekly pace since September, likely benefiting from rates declining over the course of the week. Freddie Mac's average 30-year fixed rate nevertheless increased to 7.38%, its highest level in five weeks. Kan also pointed to the growing appeal of ARMs, with the average ARM rate at 6.39%, nearly a full percentage point below the 30-year fixed rate.
