Tariff Ruling Tried (And Failed) to Steal The Show

Market Summary: Friday, February 20, 2026 - 11:03PM

If you were told ahead of time that Friday morning would bring news that the Supreme Court struck down the IEEPA tariffs, you wouldn't be crazy to think it would be the week's biggest news and a big potential source of volatility for bonds. But reality wasn't quite as dramatic. It's true that the tariff ruling garnered the week's highest volume as well as some elevated directional volatility, but in outright terms, it was less than 3bps in 10yr yields and about half of that was recovered as the day progressed. Reasons and implications are discussed in greater detail in today's recap video.

Market Movement Recap

- 08:49 AM Slightly stronger overnight and a tiny bit of push-back after data. MBS unchanged and 10yr down 1bp at 4.066
- 10:13 AM Weaker after SCOTUS ruling on tariffs. MBS down 2 ticks (.06) and 10yr up 2bps at 4.097
- 04:30 PM More than reasonably resilient in the PM hours. MBS now unchanged and 10yr up only 1bp at 4.085

Bonds Selling as Supreme Court Strikes Down Tariffs

The newswire: TRUMP'S GLOBAL TARIFFS STRUCK DOWN BY US SUPREME COURT

The initial reaction saw quick selling in bonds with 10yr yields rising from 4.07 to 4.10 instantly. There's been some push back already though and levels will likely be different by the time you read this (currently up 1.2bps at 4.088).

MBS are down an eighth of a point, but only 2 ticks (.06) since this news. As such, negative reprice risk is limited unless the selling picks back up.

Mortgage Rates End Week at Lows

Bonds dictate and bonds experienced a bit of volatility this morning in response to the Supreme Court ruling on tariffs. The initial impact was negative for rates with Treasury yields moving higher and the prices for mortgage-backed securities moving lower. But the reaction was well-contained and bonds ended up erasing most of it by the afternoon.

In addition, bonds had improved steadily yesterday, but not so quickly that mortgage lenders updated yesterday's rate offerings. As such, the average lender had a small cushion to work with today, and it was more than enough to offset this morning's bond market volatility.

All that to say that the average lender actually moved a hair lower. The final number is in line with the lowest levels of the week-- also the 2nd lowest level of the past 3 years behind January 9th (and not far behind at that).

Rates at 3-Year Lows Despite Market Volatility After Tariff Ruling

In addition to being shortened by Monday's holiday, this week's economic data didn't spark any big reactions in the bond market. Even after The Supreme Court ruled against certain recently-applied tariffs, rates managed to end the week right in line with the lowest levels in more than 3 years. The bond market dictates interest rates, and the tariff news was the biggest event of the week fo...
