Complete Recap of Today's Market Activity

Another Week, Another Oil Price Pivot

Market Summary: Monday, August 10, 2026 - 3:28PM

Recent experience suggests the safest assumption about oil prices and bond yields is that they will pop and drop with reasonable regularity. In other words, lower prices/yields for a few days following friendly war-related headlines tend to give way to unfriendly headlines and a market reversal. Wash, rinse, repeat. The new week is starting off with unfriendly news and higher oil/yields. There's not much sense in attempting to dig any deeper on market analysis so far today.

Negative Reprice Risk Increasing Just a Bit More

Several lenders have already repriced for the worse. Nothing much has changed since out last alert, but bonds are just a bit weaker, and additional lenders are slightly more likely to be considering negative reprices.

MBS are down 10 ticks (.31) and 10ys are up 5.5bps at 4.702.

Mortgage Rates End Week at Lows dropped moderately today after the latest jobs report showed much lower jobs created than expected.

The monthly jobs report is one of the most--if not THE most--important pieces of economic data to the rate market on any given month. If the numbers are close to forecasts, there isn't always a big reaction. Today's numbers were quite far from forecasts for some parts of the report, but slightly offset by others.

The net effect was a decent improvement in the underlying bond market. Because mortgage rates are based on bonds, rates dropped accordingly.

The average top-tier 30yr fixed rate moved down from 6.77 to 6.74--the lowest since July 20th.
