War Headlines Pushing Oil and Yields Higher

Market Summary: Monday, August 17, 2026 - 11:48PM

Some summertime Mondays are slow and uneventful. Some see brisk movement. Today's was somewhere in between. There was modest pressure at the outset following headlines about Iran planning to escalate hostilities. The sharpest increase in oil prices coincided with Iran seizing a UAE tanker in the Strait of Hormuz. 10yr yields followed and hit the highs of the day shortly thereafter. Bottom line: fairly straightforward day, even if moderately unpleasant for fans of low rates.

Down an Eighth From Highs

Oil prices and bond yields are both at the highs of the day with 10yr yields up 2.5bps at 4.718%.

MBS are also at the lows, down an eighth of a point on the day and an eighth of a point versus intraday highs. Because those highs coincide with some lenders' rate sheet print times, negative reprice risk can't be ruled out from the jumpiest lenders.

Mortgage Rates Start Week Higher

After ending last week near the lowest level since July 17th, are moving up to start the new week. Motivations are familiar. Escalation in U.S./Iran tensions is pushing fuel prices higher and bond yields continue to correlate. Bond yields correlate with consumer with near perfection.

In mortgage-specific terms, the average top-tier 30yr fixed rate moved up 0.02% today to 6.73%. This is still much lower than the most recent high of 6.85%, but not quite as low as last Thursday's 6.69%.
